It's a Small World

This is the story of a photograph. While covering the Second Army maneuvers here in August I ran across a youngster from my old home town, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He was one of a group of boys in a radio patrol photographed eating a watermelon near Washington. I sent the original photo East to be given to his parents — and it's been traveling ever since. The boy writes me:

Morgenthau to Ask Increase in S. S. Tax

Would Raise Employees Social Security From 1 to 5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary Morgenthau announced Thursday that a program of steep increases in social security taxes would be ready for congressional consideration within the next two months.

He declined to give out the new rate but disclosed that the size would be "enough to mop up extra money in the peoples pockets for which there will not be needs to buy."

In some informed circles it was said that Morgenthau favors increasing the employees Old Age Pension tax from 1 per cent to 5 per cent of his pay check. Morgenthau said he was not yet satisfied with plans and was not ready to give out figures.

The steepness of this increase was emphasized by Morgenthau when he related that Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt had agreed that the new tax rate should be based not so much on the needs of the social security program but upon the need to prevent inflation and to finance the defense program.

Notes From the Proving Ground

Workers Cooperate With Safety Department

Working in cooperation with the Safety Department, to render immediate aid to injured employees of the Southwestern Proving Ground, is Doctor Winston C. Riggins and his staff of two registered nurses, located in the fully equipped project hospital.

Dr. Riggins brings to the Proving Ground a background of experience and education gained in Arkansas and among Arkansas people. Having received his training in the Medical School of the University of Arkansas, he has since been associated with the Baptist State Hospital of Little Rock, Arkansas, was staff physician of the Arkansas State Hospital, also of Little Rock, and was surgical resident of Sparks Memorial Hospital of Ft. Smith, Arkansas. In addition, Dr. Riggins pursued special training in public health in Vanderbilt University.

In the Proving Ground area is maintained the hospital where all injuries not classed as major are cared for.

Cooler Weather Is Predicted

Weather Bureau Warns State Rivers Will Rise

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Predicting additional rain for the state and still cooler weather, the weather bureau Thursday forecast sharp rises all along the Arkansas river above Pine Bluff as a result of heavy rains in Oklahoma.

Rains were general over Arkansas Wednesday night when the temperature dropped to 48 degrees here. A low of 40 degrees was forecast for Thursday night.

The bureau said heavy rains would affect other streams in Arkansas also. The Arkansas river is expected to go to 32 feet at Ft. Smith within the next 48 hours.

Reds Credited With Throwing Germans Back

Soviet Armies Counter Successfully at Moscow and Rostov

By the Associated Press

Russian armies were credited in front line dispatches Thursday with throwing the Germans back across the Nara river some 50 miles southwest of Moscow while on the southern front Soviet troops were declared to have won strategic heights guarding the route to Rostov-on-Don.

Tass, Russian news agency, said the Germans tried repeatedly to cross the Nara but were beaten back.

Counter attacking Soviet troops then stormed across the river and entrenched themselves on the south bank under heavy fire, Tass said.

Slowed down in land offensives against Moscow the Germans sent more than 300 planes in a mass assault on the capital Wednesday, the Russian radio said.

"It was the biggest attack yet carried out but was unsuccessful as all previous raids," the radio declared adding that 39 Nazi planes were shot down.

Nazis Say Little

Big scale aerial attacks on Moscow have been underway for several days. Hitler's high command, silent on operations around Moscow, said German troops were now swarming into the upper Donets river industrial basin on a broad front.

On the lower reaches of the Donets the Russians claimed they stopped the Nazi onslaught massed around Rostov composed of Hitler's elite guards which have been making time for several days and asserted that German tanks were being used as stationary fortresses to hold gains.

While the Germans advance in the north to the Kharkov sector it was apparent that Marshall Timoshenko's forces were making a supreme stand to defense Rostov and thus prevent the Nazi armies from turning Rostov into a corner, southward into the Caucasus.

In the Crimea where the invaders forced a breakthrough after ten days of assault the Nazi command said the Russian rear guard was shattered and that German forces were relentlessly on the "heels of the defeated enemy." Several thousand more prisoners were taken, the command said, as the Nazi troops pushed on across the age-old Crimean battlefield toward the Black sea port of Sevastopol.

Resist Stubbornly

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters gave no specified details of the advance into the upper Donets basin where Kharkov had already been captured by the Germans.

Soviet dispatches, conceding the loss of Kharkov declared that in taking the city the Germans lost nearly 120,000 in killed and wounded, 450 tanks, 3,000 trucks and 200 guns.

Around the key Don river port of Rostov the Russians said they were stubbornly resisting all Nazi attempts at a breakthrough.

"Our units are gradually strengthening and improving their positions, the Moscow radio said.

In the Sudano sector, 100 miles north of Rostov, Germany's Italian allies acknowledged they had been halted by Russian counter attacks and added that they had not been "given a moments peace or rest in 3 days," as reported by Stefani, official Italian news agency.

On the central front it seemed clear that the German armies were stalled for the moment if not actually losing ground in the 20-day-old battle for Moscow.

14 Killed When Large Airline Plane Crashes

Pilot Clarence Brown Is Only Survivor in Minnesota Wreck

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP)—Trapped in fog and mist a Northwest Airlines plane crashed within two miles of its objective early Thursday.

Fourteen persons died in impact and flames that quickly engulfed the wreckage.

The only survivor was Captain Clarence Brown, Minneapolis, who was thrown clear as the big liner struck the earth a glancing blow, bounced into the air and then piled up. He was said to be suffering only from shock.

St. Paul dispatchers said they last heard from the plane at 1:45 a. m. and that it was then over the Fargo airport, descending at 2,700 feet, and making a routine instrument approach in weather conditions described as thick. The pilot next should have reported when he sighted land, it was said, and the dispatcher vainly tried to contact the plane at 2 a. m.

About 10 minutes later he was telephoned that the plane had crashed.

The scene of the crash was 2 miles from the Fargo airport or about 1 mile north of the city limits of Moorhead.

The crash occurred on a flat prairie and Capt. Brown was found wandering in a field apparently dazed. There was apparently no witnesses.

Talbot Field, Jr., chairman of the Hempstead County Defense Council, announced Thursday.

"In view of the fact that Honorable Homer M. Adkins has proclaimed November 11th to 16th, inclusive, as Civilian Defense Week in Arkansas there will be held in Hope on Tuesday, November 11, 9:30 a. m., at the Hempstead county courthouse, court room, a county-wide Hempstead County Defense Council meeting.

"J. J. Harrison, vice chairman of the State Defense Council of Arkansas, and director, Office of Government Reports, Little Rock, has been extended an invitation to be principal speaker.

"Personal notices, informing all members of the Hempstead County Defense Council and its various committees, are being sent out this week.

"On Wednesday night, November 12, 7:30 o'clock, at the city hall, there is to be held a meeting of the Industrial Resources and Production Committee of the Hempstead County Defense Council. R. P. Bowen is chairman of the committee and will preside. At this meeting there will be discussed the effect of the Government Defense Priorities and the possible danger of Hempstead county industrial workers losing their jobs because of the inability, if any, of Hempstead county firms to secure defense contracts with additional priority rating in materials and equipment.

"On Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the court room of the Hempstead county courthouse there will be a meeting of the Agricultural Resources and Production Committee of the County Defense Unit. This committee is composed of leading farmers throughout Hempstead county. At this meeting there will be discussed the effect on our county agricultural production of the loss of the 50,000 acres which were taken over by the Southwest Proving Ground, and possible ways, if any, of maintaining our former agricultural production."

Washington Rd Is to Reopen

Closed by Proving Ground Tuesday; Open Next Monday

State Highway No. 4, the Hope-Washington road, which was closed Tuesday night to allow special work between the Southwest Proving Ground and its airport property just across the highway, will be reopened to traffic next Monday, November 3. This was announced Thursday by R. P. Bowen, secretary of Hope Chamber of Commerce, after consultation with Proving Ground officials.

The road was closed last Tuesday night by Governor Homer M. Adkins as an emergency measure for the Proving Ground, and traffic between Hope and Washington was detoured by way of Columbus.

Closing of the main north-south highway route, it was explained Thursday, was merely temporary, and traffic will be restored next Monday.

Although the Proving Ground lies east of the road and the military airport west of it, officials have uniformly explained that No. 4 would not be closed permanently at any time. A high wire fence will run down either side of a safety zone which will pass the highway through the combined military reservation. Traffic speed is restricted, however, at the point where the Proving Ground railroad crosses the road from the main reservation to the military airport.

John L. Lewis and Steelman Taylor End Strike of 'Captive' Coal Mines

Myron C. Taylor former chairman of the U. S. Steel Corp. and Mr. Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican, is shown here conferring Wednesday with John L. Lewis on a possible settlement of the crucial coal mine strike keeping 53,000 miners out of the mines. Lewis's last answer to President Roosevelt's plea for a settlement was a definite NO—but the conference shown in this picture Wednesday led to an announcement Thursday that the strike had been ended.

Hope to Leave for Blytheville

Coach and Squad to Board Bus Early Friday

Early Friday morning the Hope Bobcats will board a large bus for Blytheville where they will take on the strong Chick team in a conference contest. Coaches Hammons and Basher will take about two team and student managers to Blytheville.

As in past games this season the Bobcats are the underdogs and although considered much stronger than Hope the Chicks have not fared so well in conference play either. The Blytheville squad will also play without the service of its star ball carrier, Sonny Lloyd, who Coach Dildy is apparently saving for another contest.

This week's game will be the fifth meeting of the two teams, a series in which Blytheville has batted 100 per cent. The two teams met first in 1937 when Hope boasted the great Vance Bright. Bright, however, was injured in the preceding game and played only about one minute before having to leave the contest. The Chicks won 27-0.

The following year Blytheville came to Hope and downed the locals 24-0. This contest saw one of Hope's greatest ends, Jack Fulkerson, now playing regular on the LSU team, throw the Chick ballcarriers for losses almost as much as yardage gained. But thanks to a couple of nifty backs, the Chicks won.

The 1939 game was the thriller of the series, with Hope gunning for the championship. But just before the Blytheville contest, Roy Taylor, offensive and defensive star of the team, was declared ineligible. The Bobcats picked up the pieces and despite the sensational runs of Bobby Ellen, lost 14-6.

The following year Coach Foy Hammons lost every man from his great 1939 team with the exception of Jimmy Simms, and the Cats lost 38-6.

This year Simms, playing his fourth game against the Chicks, will lead the Bobcats, but the chances of a win are again slim. Blytheville defeated Clarksville 32-0 while Hope won their first conference game from the Porters last week by a 19-7 score.

Lewis Accepts Proposal Made by Roosevelt

Full Membership of Mediation Board to Reconsider Union Demands

WASHINGTON (AP)— John L. Lewis announced Thursday that the United Mine Workers had accepted President Roosevelt's proposal for reopening the strike-bound Captive coal mines and added that the men would return as fast as arrangements could be made locally.

"In some areas," he said, "the night shift may return Thursday night and others Friday."

Lewis made the announcement in the Mayflower Hotel room of Myron Taylor, former chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation which operates some of the Captive mines.

Announced Together

Taylor, standing beside the mine workers' president when it was made, said he was "very much gratified with the broad cooperation which Mr. Lewis has displayed in a difficult situation in a time of great national peril."

Lewis and Taylor called in reporters after the union leader had conferred two hours with district leaders of the union.

In announcement of the agreement to return to work, Lewis said the Union leaders had accepted the President's proposal on "my recommendation."

Full Board Consideration

Mr. Roosevelt proposed in a letter to William H. Davis, chairman of the defense mediation board, that the mines be reopened, pending further consideration of the issues involved in the dispute which affects 53,000 workers by a full membership of the mediation board.

Under the suggestion neither would be committed to accept the board's recommendation.

The principal issue in the dispute is whether the Captive mine operators should accept the union's demand for a union shop under which the employees would be required to join U. M. W. after a probation period.

Lewis said the entire basis for the arrangement for reopening of the mines resulted from the 6-hour conference Wednesday with Taylor.

Britons Warned to Leave China

Embassy Appeals to Nationals to Evacuate

SHANGHAI (AP)—The British embassy in China Thursday night urged all British nationals in Japan-occupied territory to leave as soon as possible because of "recent developments."

It was stated authoritatively that the British regard the political situation in Orient as having further deteriorated. The embassy action was said to have been taken after consultations between the Chinese and British embassies.

Those who do not leave at once were advised that they must henceforth be prepared to remain where they are irrespective of the future course of events since no similar opportunity for subjects to be evacuated to re-cure.

Their departure was urgently desired. Previous suggestions that the British subjects leave were not nearly so urgent.

The total number of deaths from air bombings in England in 1940 was 23,081.

Market Calves Bring Farmers Extra Income

One Way to Increase That
Income Is to Fatten
1942 Stock

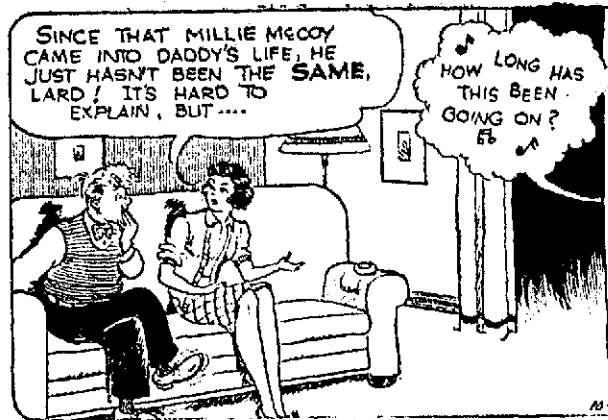

One of the ways in which Hempstead county farmers can increase the amount of meat for the national defense program is by getting larger weights on calves to be marketed during the 1942 season, Oliver L. Adams, county agent reports.

In general, the county agent said, the 1941 spring crop of calves will receive the most attention, but he pointed out that there are a large number of late summer and fall calves in the county that will have to be wintered with the cows and that will not have the advantage of as heavy flow of milk and lush grass as the spring crop had.

To fully develop these late summer and fall calves, M. W. Muldrow of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture suggests that the cows with these calves be separated from the general herd, and fed liberal rations in order to increase their milk flow for the calves.

In addition, the Extension animal husbandman said, a way should be provided for giving grain to the calves. He said either a creep should be provided where the calves could have grain at their liberty, or a place pro-

Urge Censor Mail in U. S.

Trinidad Route Causes Delay Between Americas

By FRED S. FERGUSON
President of NEA Service
RIO DE JANEIRO —(By Cable)—American business men here in Rio are asking why, if censorship of mails and shipments to and from North America is necessary, such censorship cannot be exercised in Miami or New York as ports of departure.

As matters now stand, all mail is routed through the British censorship at Trinidad, resulting in needless delays. In addition, it at least opens the way for examination of American business deals, prices, etc., and there is evidence that securities which are being transferred are copied and listed at Trinidad for no purpose that is worthwhile for American interests.

Committee Has Details on Bank Funds Seizure

The climax of this censorship situation was reached with the revelation of the seizure of $75,000 of National City Bank funds. The details of this seizure are now in the hands of a congressional committee composed of Representatives Nichols of Oklahoma, Kleberg of Texas, Dirksen of Illinois and Hinshaw of California. While this committee is on a tour of inspection of the airlines in South America and is not dipping into national affairs too deeply, all of its members were thoroughly impressed by the Trinidad situation.

The National City Bank in Rio delivered to them a written statement with full details of the seizure affair prior to their departure for Buenos Aires.

No Opportunity for Trinidad Observation

The Congressmen had no opportunity for any observations in Trinidad on route to Rio. While their schedule called for an over-night layover at Trinidad, this was changed at San Juan, where they spent the night instead.

Departure for Trinidad was at 4 a. m. the next morning and the stop there was only for about 30 minutes. Curtains at the windows of the plane were drawn as the clipper approached Trinidad, and all passengers were confined to the airport until the flight was resumed.

vided where the calves can be separated from the cows at regular intervals and fed grain.

With prospects for a strong market next summer for fed cattle, Mr. Muldrow believes it will be quite possible to continue these calves on feed to weights of 650 to 700 pounds. This plan for feeding the calves, he pointed out, calls for a minimum amount of grain, and yet a high priced product is produced.

Recalls Trouble of First War

President Wilson Took Similar Measure

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt may be having a little trouble with his revision of the Neutrality Bill to permit the arming of merchant vessels, but it can't be any worse than President Wilson had with a similar measure 24 years ago.

Some of the pieces in the present pattern seem to fit exactly those of nearly a quarter of a century ago. In those days, it was called the "Armed Neutrality" bill. The House had passage of the 1917 bill was unprecedented for a controversial measure. The vote was 403 to 13.

In both instances, the measures faced really bit trebuchets in the Senate. Both times, a hardhitting minority in the upper house made the majority put on kid gloves. Now, as then, "incidents" have popped up to influence the vote. In 1917, it was the "Zimmerman note," which publicized an alleged plot on the part of Germany to ally Mexico and Japan in a war against the United States. In 1941, it was the sinking of the Lehigh and the Bold Venture and the torpedoing of the Kearny, almost in the midst of deliberations on the bill.

But the points of difference are considerable, too.

On a cold, dreary Friday, March 2, 1917, the Armed Neutrality Bill reached the Senate floor. There seemed no doubt about its passage—it was only a question of when the vote would come. It couldn't be long because the 64th Congress was to die at noon, Sunday.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, and a score of other notables, were in the galleries. On the floor, the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette (whose son, Young Bob, now holds down a stool in the same isolationist camp) was bristling for action and behind him at the moment were just ten senators—ten of 35 representatives of the people in all of Congress who opposed arming merchant vessels.

The first blast came when Senator Stone of Missouri, Democratic chairman of the foreign relations committee that had brought the bill to the floor, got up and announced that since he was opposed to the measure, he was relinquishing floor management to Senator Hitchcock. That put 12 men in the isolationist camp.

Skipping the details, I'll tell you right now, in case you don't remember or never heard those 12 men talked the Armed Neutrality Bill to death. Only by unanimous consent can you end debate for a vote in the Senate. When the 64th Congress expired Sunday, the senators were still "debating."

The finish had one amusing phase: Senator LaFollette, although leader of the opposition, had been holding back on the three-hour speech he had worked on for weeks. While other senators struggled through the all-night session, the "Old Fox" had some good sleep, the good breakfast, and strolled into the senate at 9 a. m., fresh to take over.

Senator Hitchcock had the floor when he saw his antagonist coming down the aisle. Knowing the bill already was lost anyway, Senator Hitchcock held the floor for three solid hours and Senator LaFollette's fine speech turned to ashes in his mouth. Nevertheless, it was LaFollette who had the last word. Senator Hitchcock closed his harangue with the shouted declaration that the bill had been de-

Both galleries and senators roared and the session ended.

MURDER IN PARADISE

By MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

THE STORY: Two murders at Paradise Lake renew the old romance between school teacher Mary O'Donnor, vacationing there with her mother, Maudie, and reporter Dennis Flynn, sent down from the city to cover the story. Herbert Cord was killed by gangster Alvin Karpis, although Cord's death at first baffled the police. Dennis Flynn, who had been courted for two summers only to bring Marie O'Donnor to Paradise this year as his fiancée. Second mysterious death was that of Miss Millie Morris, Dennis's aunt, who kept locked in her heart the secret of a childhood romance with someone who shared his letters "KID." Other characters in the story are Liza Holmes, Miss Millie's maid who stays on with Dennis; elderly innkeeper Chris Gordon; local editor "Old Palmer," in love with Jeanie; and Mary and Liza's body hanging in the attic of the Morris home.

WHAT OF TOMORROW?

CHAPTER XXII

IT was an undiplomatic question to ask and the doctor was obviously glad when Officer Antler came in. But I had a hunch the doctor had made up his mind as to the answer even before he made the official autopsy in his role as coroner.

The law was in charge now and so the questioning began. I'm quite sure John Antler would have liked to put me in my place several times, but I wanted to be the first one to start, and since I had seen Liza Holmes up there and Jeanie hadn't, it seemed only right I should begin.

I told them all I could, starting back with our trip to town the day before. It made it easier for Jeanie when it was her turn, not that there was any reason why one should not help her.

"You didn't look to see if she was in her room last night, then?" he asked, and she repeated that she hadn't. She also told again that Liza Holmes had had no worries that she knew about, and that she hadn't seemed unusual except that she grieved for Miss Millie in her silent, tight-lipped fashion.

We didn't stay there much longer. The doctor said there were things to do up in the attic and if I wanted to take Jeanie home with me we could leave any time. "I'll look up and bring the key. Might be just as well if you stayed some place else tonight—not here."

Tod had arrived at our house before we got out of the car which a police officer had turned into a taxi for our benefit. Tod had heard the news that Liza was dead and his first thought had been to have someone to stay with Jeanie. Maudie told him I was already at the Morris home and then, after he had admitted there was more excitement over there, she had buttonholed him. I think he was almost as glad to get out of her clutches as he was to see Jeanie.

I MANAGED to get Maudie in the kitchen away from them with the promise to tell her everything.

"Suicide," she snorted. "I don't believe that and you don't expect me to because you don't believe it yourself."

"Well, I saw her hanging there with a rope around her neck," I said. "And it wasn't a pretty sight, either."

"Have you notified Dennis?" was her only answer to that one.

I hadn't, but Tod Palmer had, and Dennis was with us for dinner that evening. "Three times and it out, you know. You girls have presented this lovely, restful community with three dead persons. Don't you think that's a pretty good summer's work? Why don't you go home now. Go home and rest up."

He was grinning, but the way he held my hands didn't make me feel he was fooling. His hands trembled and in back of that grin I sensed fear, and I'd never known Dennis to show fear. If it hadn't been for Maudie I think I'd have packed our things right then and headed for town. But Maudie said it was apparent we were the only observant ones around there.

"Maybe before the police are through they'll give credit where credit's due. They should vote us honorary members of the force," she said.

"Maybe they'll give you a gun to carry," Dennis said quietly. "I'll speak to Antler about it."

Durantes to Protect U. S.

New 'Schnozzles' Ships Ready for Combat

By MILTON BRONNER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Rattlesnake traps either have been set, or are ready to be set, before the entrances of all important American harbors, the U. S. Navy has announced.

These are the nets and booms which will protect the ports of the United States and its possessions against invasion by marauding submarines.

Some of the nets actually have been laid, and plans have been completed to give this protection instantly to all harbors in the event of a naval crisis.

Net Depots on Both Coasts

Procuring these nets, storing them and laying them is the task of the Naval District Division of the Office of Naval Operations.

The nets are made of steel. Net depots have been established on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and almost all the nets have been delivered.

During the past months a special number of officers and enlisted men have been put through special training at San Francisco and at Newport, R. I., learning how to man the net depots and to handle the nets. But men and nets are no good without ships. To this end 25 tugs have been purchased, 21 vessels have been converted or built as net auxiliaries and 32 small net tenders have been ordered, a number of these already being completed and on their stations. The balance will be delivered in the course of the current month.

For the Pacific coast stations the net tenders have been built in shipyards in Houghton, Wash. For the Atlantic coast the interesting thing is that small shipyards in Cleveland, Ohio, and Point Pleasant, W. Va., have been used. The Cleveland vessels go down to the sea via the Great Lakes. The West Virginia ships go down the Ohio River, thence by the way of the Mississippi River, Gulf of Mexico and to the Atlantic.

Owing to the peculiar prow of some of these ships, they have already been labeled by the seamen—"Schnozzles Durantes."

Balances which weigh tiny particles of aluminum alloy on other aircraft materials to within one-twentieth of a milligram are used in airplane factories.

Nothing Budget for the Family

Hempstead Home- makers Defend Against Rising Price

Hempstead County home-makers defend the family clothing budget against mounting prices of materials and manufactured garments. Hempstead County home demonstration club leaders will stress careful buying and closer attention to construction and labeling this week.

Miss Mary Claude Fletcher, county home demonstration agent, urged Wednesday.

The clothing program will be in charge of Mrs. D. M. Collier, Oak Grove, and Mrs. C. R. Willard, Marlinton, county home demonstration club leaders.

The immediate purchasing problem in clothing leaders will aid home-makers to solve, Miss Fletcher said. The selection of new winter coats, in regard, the County home demonstration agent said the leaders stress the following pointers recommended by Miss Sue Marshall of University of Arkansas College of Education.

Wool pieces are on the rise; used for linings, fur, favorite trim, are on the taxable luxury many of this season's coats emphasize simplicity both of style and of material. The Extension clothing specialist says.

This year's coat, too, may have to last a little longer than usual, so every detail of coat quality should be checked before the purchase is made to be sure the coat is the best buy for the money paid.

In checking the fiber content, Miss Marshall says, homemakers will be aided by the new Wool Products Labeling Act. The new Act specifies that every coat, with over 5 per cent wool, must be honestly labeled as to its exact wool content and the kind of wool used in the coat. A coat labeled "all wool" or "all virgin wool" will actually be 100 per cent new wool.

The lining and the interlining should be carefully examined, since with the ban on raw silk imports, more and more of the linings doubtless will be of rayon. For most coats, good quality rayon is highly satisfactory, if the seams are generous and well-stitched.

Otherwise, they may fray badly. The interlining material should be checked to make sure it will be warm enough for frigid days. If the interlining and lining are seamed separately, the coat will look better and fit better.

A coat that is accurately cut with the grain of the cloth hangs straight all around when tried on.

A well-made coat is hemmed and finished off with silk-ribbon binding; the coat front is faced back and is sewed on; all seams lie flat and are bound with preshrunk tape; the thread throughout is strong and matches coat materials; the coat lining fits into the coat smoothly; the lining hem is joined to the coat only at the front facings and with tacks at each seam; and a pleat about three-fourths of an inch deep runs the full length of the center back, and is tacked at waistline and lower edge.

Evangelist Vandermerwe to Conduct Revival Campaign

Evangelist Bernice Vandermerwe will conduct a two weeks revival campaign at the Hope Gospel Tabernacle, beginning Sunday morning, the Rev. J. E. Hamill, pastor, announced Thursday.

Mrs. Vandermerwe knows one of the outstanding lady evangelists in the Assemblies of God, was born in Dallas, Texas, and at present is in Dallas, where she lived and was educated. In 1927 she was married to the Rev. Stephen Vandermerwe of South Africa, who at that time was touring America in evangelistic work. In 1931 Mr. and Mrs. Vandermerwe sailed for South Africa, where Mrs. Vandermerwe became one of the leading evangelists in that country. Her husband pastored one of the larger churches and was a member of the Executive Presbytery of the Full Gospel Churches of South Africa.

In 1936 the Vandermerwes returned to America, where Mr. Vandermerwe has pastored churches in Fort Worth, Texas, and at present is in Dallas, where she lived and was educated. In 1927 she was married to the Rev. Stephen Vandermerwe of South Africa, who at that time was touring America in evangelistic work. In 1931 Mr. and Mrs. Vandermerwe sailed for South Africa, where Mrs. Vandermerwe became one of the leading evangelists in that country. Her husband pastored one of the larger churches and was a member of the Executive Presbytery of the Full Gospel Churches of South Africa.

The Rev. Hamill said Thursday, "We are delighted to have Mrs. Vandermerwe for this campaign, and the prospects are bright for the greatest revival we have ever had at the Tabernacle."

The singing will be led by Mr. F. L. Williamson of Oklahoma City, and assisted by Mrs. Williamson in rendering special selections.

Services will be conducted every night, except Saturday at 7:30 o'clock, and Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings at 10:00 o'clock.

Salesmanship Classes Here

Miss Schaffhauser to Again Conduct Training Course

Miss Evelyn Schaffhauser, Instructor of Distributive Education with the State Department of Education, will hold classes in Salesmanship at the City Hall, beginning Thursday, October 30, at 7:30 p. m.

The first meeting on Thursday night will be devoted to organization and classification. Those who attended a previous course with Miss Schaffhauser will be offered advanced instruction. There will be no charges for these courses and everyone interested in selling should enroll Thursday night to get the full benefit of this instruction.

There will be no expense for textbooks or other material used, and classes will meet only twice a week for an hour and a half. Those attending will benefit more from the course if they will bring a loose leaf notebook and a pencil.

The State Board of Education will issue a certificate to everyone who satisfactorily completes the course and everyone should attend the first meeting Thursday night, October 30, as this meeting is a part of the course.

Miss Beryl Henry, Superintendent of the Hope Public Schools, has arranged for this instruction to be given by Miss Schaffhauser to members of the Junior and Senior Classes in the Hope High School, as many of these boys and girls will want work in local stores during the Christmas holidays.

The course includes: "Getting the Customer's Goodwill and Opening the Sale," "Why Customers Buy and Finding the Customer's Need," "Know Your Merchandise and be able to give Selling Points," "Increasing the Average Sale and Turnover," and "The Customer."

At the meeting Thursday night, October 30, a special film will be shown, "The Land of the Free." For further details, call the Chamber of Commerce.

to win Marlene Dietrich in "Manpower," and he thinks it's important always to get the gal. The cynical Mr. Bogart, who himself has turned down many a role for other reasons, doesn't give a whoop about romance. A lot of actors have profited by others' errors. Al Jolson went into "The Jazz Singer," first talkie, when George Jessel refused it. Errol Flynn made his first screen fame as "Captain Blood" because Robert Donat turned it down. And Luise Rainer became a top star with "Escapee" when Myrna Loy flounced out of it.

Notes From the

Operating sixteen hours per day, being closed only from midnight until 8 o'clock, when comparatively few employees are on the job, the staff of the hospital is prepared to give almost continuous service. Ambulance service is maintained at the hospital and stands on call at all hours, as does Dr. Riggins.

All injuries of minor character are treated at the hospital, without cost of either drugs or services to the employee.

In order to facilitate speed in treatment of injuries, two First Aid stations are maintained in the field, in charge of a registered nurse or a qualified First Aid attendant, at all times.

Dr. Riggins believes the efforts expended by the Safety Departments and the services rendered by the medical units have been the determining factor in maintaining a record of no deaths from injuries to date, at the job.

In addition to the work of treating injured employees, Dr. Riggins and staff conduct all pre-employment physical examinations at the project.

Cagney's Killed, Hayes Is Hit, Bogart's Busy

HOLLYWOOD — Nine lives are enough for one man to give for his studio, says Jimmy Cagney, who's in the midst of an heroic and gory demise for "Captains of the Clouds." Most actors like dramatic death scenes but Cagney has done them in eight other pictures.

He sits in a cutaway version of a fighter plane cockpit and engages in battle with the Luftwaffe. Finally a Messerschmitt pilot gets the Canadian in his sights. A burst shatters the glass just above him. Then a bullet hits him. An ordinary mortal, struck in the head by a machine gun bullet, would go into a spin at that point, but in the tradition of Cagney tenacity, he goes on fighting awhile.

It has been a four-day head-ache for Mr. C., what with the goosy red paint that keeps running down into his eyes, and with the din of eight imitation machine guns and the occasional canon blasts—from a semi-automatic shotgun.

"I wish I was dead," he says plainly.

partment announced today. Authorization has been given the Chemical Warfare Service to proceed with arrangements to have constructed a plant costing several million dollars.

The site will cover approximately 5,000 acres of land. Construction will include manufacturing and assembly plants, chemical warfare depots, storage depots, laboratories, shops, offices, a hospital, fire and police stations, communications facilities, and utilities, including roads and railroads. A total of one million square feet of floor space will be required for the completed plant, which will employ approximately 2,000 persons.

It is expected that bombs will come off the production line within ten months after ground is broken. The War Department has no further information on the project at this time, but upon completion of negotiations for construction and operation of the plant, the contracts will be announced. The plant will be government owned and agent operated.
